Alberta . . .

Highways in Alberta are kept open all year except the mountain road from Lake Louise to Jasper which is closed from October 31st until about May 15th.

There is No Direct Sales Tax in Alberta.

Population—1,228,000 (Dominion Bureau of Statistics, January, 1958).

Cities—Edmonton (metropolitan area), 310,000; Calgary (metropolitan area), 260,000; Lethbridge, 31,568; Medicine Hat, 21,079; Red Deer, 16,501; Grande Prairie, 7,277; Camrose, 5,960; Wetaskiwin, 4,476; Drumheller, 2,632; Lloydminster (Alberta portion), 2,737.

Area—Total 255,285 sq. mi.; land, 248,000 sq. mi.; water, 7,285 sq. mi. Alberta is much larger than California but has a population less than that of Los Angeles.

Forests cover about 158,000 sq. mi. of Alberta including: Eastern Slopes Conservation Area 8,900 sq. mi. Jasper National Park, 4,200 sq. mi.; Banff National Park, 2,564 sq. mi.; Waterton Lakes National Park, 204 sq. mi. Principal tree species include: spruce, pine, poplar, aspen, balsam fir, white birch and tamarack.

Altitudes—The surface of Alberta rises gradually from the Great Central Plain with an elevation of 2,170 ft. at Medicine Hat to the foothills and the ice-capped Canadian Rockies. It is drained by tributaries of three great river systems, namely, the Missouri-Mississippi in the south, the Bow and Saskatchewan systems in the centre which flow into Hudson's Bay, and the great Mackenzie system whose tributaries are the Athabasca and the Peace in the north and which reaches the Arctic Ocean. Altitudes of principal places are Calgary, 3,438'; Banff, 4,534'; Lake Louise, 5,050'; Kicking Horse Pass, 5,332'; on Banff-Jasper Highway, Bow Summit, 6,785'; Sunwapta Pass, 6,675'; Jasper Townsite, 3,472'; Edmonton, 2,185'; Lethbridge, 2,983'; Fort Macleod, 3,107'; Red Deer, 2,819.

There are no venomous snakes or poisonous insects in Alberta's resort areas and especially in the Canadian Rockies and foothills where the Hay Fever rating is zero.

Climate—Spring comes to Alberta, ice breaks up on the rivers and early spring flowers like the crocus (anemone) appear usually during the first two weeks of April and all the leaves are out usually by the middle of May. Spring and autumn days, the latter extending from about October 1st until mid-December are usually warm and sunny, but there may be frosts at night. Summer temperatures range from the fifties to the mid-eighties, but, with the exception of the Medicine Hat region, they seldom rise above 90°. In the mountains the summer days are warm and the evenings are crisp. You always sleep under blankets in the Canadian Rockies. Winter weather varies considerably in Alberta because much of the province lies in the path of the chinook winds—dry, warm air currents which, coming from the Pacific Ocean, lose their precipitation on the western slopes of the mountains and descend to the plains regaining their warmth through compression. Temperatures can rise from below zero to forty above within a few hours. Winters in Alberta are not bitterly severe because, although the temperatures may be below zero, the air is so dry that warm clothing always keeps out the chill.

Bring the kind of clothing you would normally wear for the season in the place where you live. Throw in that old sweater; it may come in handy even on summer evenings in the mountains.

Attractions—On your way to or from the Canadian Rockies you will find many interesting places and attractions in out-of-the way spots. Plan to visit the badlands north of Brooks or in the Drumheller area. Visit the museum at Fort Macleod, the Galt Gardens at Lethbridge, the Mormon Temple at Cardston, the great landslide at Frank, the Calgary Stampede and district rodeos, the oil fields at Turner Valley, Leduc, Redwater, Red Deer and Drayton Valley, the provincial auditoria in Calgary and Edmonton, the great industrial section east of Edmonton, the pulp mill at Hinton, the Basilian Museum at Mundare, the old fort site at Rocky Mountain House and scores of historic sites which are specially marked throughout the province. Visit the university and Legislative Buildings in Edmonton, and inspect our schools everywhere. You will find a church of your choice in every city and in nearly every town in the province.

For Your Comfort

Motels, auto courts and tourist bungalows in Alberta outside the national parks, are inspected, licensed and classified by government authorities according to the quality of accommodation and the facilities provided.

A 4★ rental unit must have electric lights, complete floor coverings or hardwood floors, ceiling height of at least 7' 6", bedroom floor area of 100 sq. ft or floor area of 150 sq. ft. when bedroom and living room are combined, completely modern plumbing and bathroom furnishing including towels, etc., good beds, springs, mattresses, pillows, large guest-type blankets, bedspreads and sheets, floor mats, luggage rack, dresser and mirror or vanity, built-in clothes closet, full closing drapes, or curtains and window blinds. Living room furniture must be modern and of a high standard and where there is no living room, the bedroom must have a writing desk or table, two upholstered chairs with arms or similar "hostess" chairs. Kitchens must be suitably separated from bedrooms and must be completely equipped with modern kitchen appliances including chinaware, towels, cutlery, garbage container, soap, etc., table and a chair for each occupant.

The heating system must be adequate to maintain 70° F. in severe winter weather. In short, the 4★ unit must be fully modern in every respect and, also, it must present a good appearance, be provided with attractive surroundings, good drive-ways and be properly maintained.

3★ rental units must provide all the modern facilities of the 4★ unit but they need not be furnished so sumptuously. The 4★ unit may be regarded as de luxe, and the 3★ unit as good, clean, comfortable family accommodation.

2★ rental units must have electric lights but they may not have self-contained bathroom facilities. Such facilities must be provided, however, in a central building.

1★ units need not have modern plumbing facilities or electric light.

0★ units are those which fall below the 1★ unit in standards of facilities and furnishings.

Two-star, one-star and zero-star rental suites are usually located in remote places where modern water and light facilities are not available. Zero-star units are not recommended for transient visitors.

Classifications and grades in this book are dated to Mar. 31, 1960, and are subject to change.
